Brain building moments

Attention Employers: You can help support and empower your employees in their relationships with their children.

By participating in Vroom.

- ◆ Vroom is an exciting national program that supports healthy child brain development.
- ◆ It shows parents how they can turn activities like bath time and mealtime into opportunities that build their children's brains.
- ◆ Child Care Council is offering several ways for you to help, such as participating in virtual lunch-and-learn events, including program information in your internal newsletters, and sharing resources with your employees.
